

What is Israel SII certification?

Israel SII certification Brief Introduction According to Israel, the Israeli Bureau of Standards Standards Act in 1953 (SII, The Standards Institution of Israel) is Israel's official standards body. SII is a nongovernmental organization,

How many SII standards are there in Israel?

SII has been promulgated so far as many as 3,000 Israeli standards, standard code with "IS" indicates. For managed controlled of electrical and electronic products, in accordance with regulatory requirements, from January 1, 2005 starting, must apply for and obtain certification from SII as a clearance and sales permits.

What is the Standards Institute of Israel (SII)?

The Standards Institute of Israel (SII) operates product and system certification programs. Use of the Standards Mark is generally voluntary but Israeli law mandates that certain classes of products must be certified before they are sold. The Standards Mark program operates in accordance with EN 45011.

How long is SII certification valid?

4. SII Shipment Inspection: When the goods to the port, Israeli customs will conduct batch by batch tests and inspections of products. Greater risk in this way. The certificate is valid: 1~4 years, based on the product. Experience factory requirements: Only the SII Standards Mark Certification need to experience factory.

Does SII accept CB certificate?

For most of the IEC standard, SII accepted IECEE system of mutual recognition of test certificates on electrical products. According to CB Scheme rules, SII acknowledge that CB report and CB certificates, only need to check whether the differences between Israel and the additional requirements (including EMC certification standards).

How does SII standardization work?

The General Assembly annually elects a Board of Directors and President. The SII's Standardization Division coordinates the preparation of standards through the work of hundreds of standardization committees that include volunteer representatives from all sectors of the Israeli economy.

Electrical product safety testing is mandatory, and manufacturers are required to obtain Type Approval to import products into Israel. Manufacturers may also choose to apply for the SII Mark in order to apply the SII Safety Mark on products. Product must be marked with SII Standard Mark if manufacturers apply for SII mark for the products.
