Modelling suggests that the growing use of fluctuating renewable energies may temporarily handicap nuclear power and increase fossil fuel use. Renewable energies, such as wind and solar power, are increasingly used all over the world. New research from Tsinghua University suggests that these energies can make it hard for nuclear power to remain competitive - but because ...

The report "Technology Outlook on Wind and Solar Power toward China's Carbon Neutrality Goal" stands at a critical juncture of global climate change and China's ecological civilization construction, proposing strategic measures for the sustainable development of wind and solar power, identifying the inherent advantages and new opportunities and formats of the industry ...

With the increasing shortage of fossil energy and air pollution, solar energy sees its rapid development as a clean and renewable energy. Developing and utilizing solar energy is one of the important ways to achieve the goals of "carbon neutrality and carbon peaking" in China. Seasonal extremely low solar radiation events seriously threaten the stability of photovoltaic power ...

The obtained results suggest that the proposed machine learning models can effectively enhance the efficiency of solar power generation systems by accurately predicting the required measurements.
