Solar array mounted on a rooftop. A solar panel is a device that converts sunlight into electricity by using photovoltaic (PV) cells. PV cells are made of materials that produce excited electrons when exposed to light. The electrons flow through a circuit and produce direct current (DC) electricity, which can be used to power various devices or be stored in batteries.

Polycrystalline solar panels are one of the oldest types of solar panel in existence, with cells that are made by melting multiple silicon crystals and combining them in a square mould. These blue panels are less efficient, less aesthetically pleasing, and less long-lasting than black monocrystalline panels.
